

Spinners End (Magna Large Print General Series)

In the autumn of 1893 Francine Chayter came to live with her father, a famous photographer, in his new London home at Spinners End. Excited by the East End, Francine was longing to get to know her father, but Edwin Chayter hated the very sight of her! Rejected and heartbroken, Francine made friends with the servants and also fell in love - with a camera. Francine rebelled against Victorian Society to become a gifted and innovative photographer, and an unexpected trip to Monte Carlo brought her a surprise revelation about her mother...
