

Michael Melvin is the competent oncologist at the cancer-specialized hospital in Chicago. On His wedding anniversary, he is visited by his first flame Judy from Iowa. Since she jilted him 17 years ago, she has never made contact with him. His long-forgotten wound is reopened, and he can't understand why she comes to him. She gets caught by cervical cancer, but her case is not difficult. Iowan doctors can treat her easily. On the contrary to his anticipation, while he is treating her, he runs into trouble after trouble.
