

Black magic, murder and mayhem descend upon sleepy Summerton... Bible class teacher Evangeline Weekes is hiding a dark secret. Her past catches up with her when a mysterious African stranger arrives in town... A violent poltergeist suddenly enters No.1 Brent Street, the home Evangeline shares with her landlord Frank Andrews and his family. Frank's adolescent grandson David is suspected of being the agent through whom the demon is working. Things get much worse for David when inexplicable accidents start to happen at his workplace - a manufacturer of toxic gas. Evangeline has formed a relationship with Tom Walker a teenaged boy of mixed race at the orphanage where she teaches. Tom and some of the other boys are being abused by a circle of rich and powerful men. Evangeline bides her time before unleashing a terrible vengeance. But her murderous spree has repercussions. Already crippled by the demon, the factory is brought to the brink of disaster when Evangeline kills the safety director. Thousands of lives are threatened. With the green tendrils of a massive toxic gas escape creeping over the factory fence, Evangeline realises only she can stop the ghost of her past exacting a terrible revenge.
